I was born in Afyonkarahisar in 1975. I graduated from Anatolian Meteorology Vocational High School in 1993 and started to work at Adnan Menderes Airport Meteorology Directorate the same year. I graduated from Dokuz Eylül University Engineering Faculty Mechanical Engineering Department in 1998. In 2001, I was assigned by the General Directorate of Meteorology for 4 months at Afghanistan Kabul Airport to provide meteorological services within the international peacekeeping force. I am still working as the Technical Chief in Adnan Menderes Airport Meteorology Directorate. In addition, I teach Meteorology at various private aviation courses, aviation departments of the National Defense University and Ege University Aviation Vocational School.
