

Instructor Dilaver ÇETİNKAYA

Served as F-16 Mechanical Systems Technical Representative at 9th Main Jet Base of Balıkesir between the years of 1998-2004 in Turkish Air Force. In 1997-1998, he received F-16 Mechanical Systems Technical Representative Training for 792 hours in Texas, U.S.A. Within the scope of that training he majored in Aircraft Maintenance of Structure , Fuselage, Hydraulic System, Fuel System, Flight Control System, Aircraft Environmental Control System, Electrical System, Landing Gear System, Personnel Rescue System , Corrosion Control, Jet Engine and Weapon Systems. In the same year, he received 613 hours of "Business and Academic Reading English" training at Fort Worth Texas Tarrant County College. As a result of these trainings, he served as representative and consultant between the manufacturer firm Lockheed Martin and Turkish Air Force. Between 1995-1997, he served as F-16 Mechanical Systems instructor at Ankara 4th Main Jet Base F-16 Technical Training Center. He received Technical Teaching Training at the Training Manager and Teacher Training School in the Air Technical Schools Command in İzmir-Gazimir in 1995. Between 1989-1995, he worked as aircraft technician, technical control and "Dispatcher" at the 4th Main Jet Base 141st F-16 flight line. He received 328 hours of F-16 Crew-Chief Academic training in Texas, U.S.A. between 1989-1990. During the Bosnia and Herzegovina War in 1993-1994, he served as "Dispatcher" at Italy-Brescia Ghedi Air Base within the scope of Deny Flight Mission. In 1987-1988, he completed the İzmir Air Language School English course as the second best student. Between 1981-1987, he served as F-104 aircraft technician at Ankara 4th Main Jet Base. He graduated from the Air Technical Schools Command in 1981 as jet aircraft technician. Since 2014, he has been teaching Aviation English Lesson at Ege University Aviation Vocational School, Department of Aircraft Technology. He graduated from Anadolu University Faculty of Business Administration with bachelor's degree. In addition, he has M.E.B. Master Training Certificate. He is married and has one daughter.