

Instructor Osman YILDIRIM

Worked as an aircraft and helicopter technician between 1981-2013 within the Turkish Land Forces Land Aviation Command.

He has taken several courses and licenses during his career, some of them are listed below:

In 1981 he received Aircraft / Helicopter Maintenance and Flight Technician diploma from the Land Forces Aviation School.

In 1990, he received Aircraft Pilot License from the Turkish Aeronautical Association.

H-300 Helicopter (USA) at Schweizer Company in 1992,

S-70 Helicopter Airframe (USA) at United Technologists Sikorsky Company in 1993,

S-70 Helicopter Power Train (USA) at United Technologists, Sikorsky Company in 1993,

Composite repair at United Technologies Company (USA) in 1993,

T 700- T701 C Engine Familiarization (USA) at GE Aircraft Engines Company in 1993,

T-182 Aircraft Maintenance within the Scope of SHY-147 at the Land Forces Aviation School in 2011.

He retired from the army in 2013. Since then, he has been giving lectures on Professional Applications, and Helicopter Construction and Systems in the Aircraft Technology department, and Heliport Management in the Civil Aviation Management department of Ege University Aviation Higher Vocational School.

He completed his undergraduate education at Anadolu University Faculty of Business Administration in 2017, and still continues to lecture at Ege University Aviation Higher Vocational School.